"Farmers are very uneasy about the wheat crop. They think the last year's crop was injured. Before the freeze it looked well."—[Georgetown Times.]

The attorneys of Charles E. Kincaid charged with the murder of Hon. Pres. Taulbee, asked Judge Hager of the Criminal Court of the District of Columbia, for a postponement of the trial until June, in order that Senator Voorhees, who is now under treatment at the Hot Springs, might be on hand. The Judge refused the request and the case was to go to trial yesterday.

Gen. J. M. Palmer was elected U. S. Senator from Illinois on Wednesday. Messrs. Cockrell and Moore, two Alliance members, voted for him, thus making his election possible. This offsets the loss occasioned the party by the death of Senator Hearst, of California. The Senate now stands, 47 Republicans, 39 Democrats and 2 Farmers Alliance.

Attorney David Poston was shot by Col. H. Clay King, another prominent attorney of Memphis, Tenn., on Tuesday, and died on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Poston was a member of the firm of Poston & Poston, and was counsel for Mrs. Gen. Pillow in her suit with King. It will be remembered that Col. King became infatuated with the woman and neglecting his own family, went to live with her on his Arkansas plantation. While there she induced King to deed all of his property to her. These deeds she placed on record, and King learning that the deeds were recorded, a quarrel resulted, and she had him ejected from "her" plantation. In the suit King brought for the recovery of his property, Poston was one of her attorneys, and he was not over choicely in his comments on King's conduct. In revenge King waylaid and killed him.

A Reproach to Men.

Think for a moment what is implied in the single fact that in no part of the world is it deemed safe for a woman to go alone after dark, nor, in many localities, by day even. It is not enough to reply that woman must have a trustworthy masculine escort because she is timid. Why should she be timid? Under similar circumstances a man may fear the personal violence of an enemy or the loss of his money and valuables. A woman has to dread man's "wildness and the chances of the dark." In plain words, she fears that, if unattended, some man will seek to rob her of her honor. And is not this fear of hers an arraignment of civilization itself? How much better does civilized man show above his savage brother in relation to this matter? It may be urged that it is unfair to hold all men responsible for the lawlessness of a minority; but what is this but to confess that the majority are powerless to restrain the minority, or to say that improvement in this regard is impossible? If in the vicinity of every large town in the United States there lurked a dozen or more fierce wolves that, after nightfall, went into the town and banquered on such of the citizens as they could secure, we may, without much doubt, assert that such a state of things, when once found to exist, would come to a speedy termination; for every man would feel that the common safety of all demanded the exertion of his strength in the contest with the wild beasts. But let it be understood that the honor of every woman is endangered when she goes from place to place alone at night, and we accept the fact as no reproach on our common manhood, but merely fancy that all requirements of duty are satisfied if we provide defenseless women with a responsible male escort.—[Oscar Fay Adams in North America Review.]

Making Seamless Tubes.

Chamber's Journal speaks of what promises to be an important industry that has been established at Swansea. This is a new process for the manufacture of seamless tubes from blocks of solid metal, and is named after its inventor, two brothers, the Maunesses Process. The method will meet with its widest applications in the treatment of steel, and the metal selected must be of the very finest quality. Red-hot bars of the metal are passed between conical rolls of peculiar construction, and they pass out at the other side in the form of seamless tubes. A peculiar feature of the process is that in these tubes the fibre of the metal, instead of being parallel, is twisted round in a spiral, thus giving immense strength to the product. Great power is requisite to produce this result, and this is achieved by the employment of a fly wheel, which weighs sixty tons, and which stores up about ten thousand horse power. Tubes of any thickness or diameter can be produced by a change in the position of the conical rolls. The new process will have many applications in different departments of steel manufacture, among which may be noted hollow rails and tubes for bridge construction of large span. The works are in the hands of an English company and have lately been visited by representatives from the Admiralty, Board of Trade, Lloyd's and other public bodies.

A public ball at Kilgore, a mining village on the Newport News railroad, near Cattletsburg, terminated in a battle Monday night. Over 100 shots were fired, and when the lamps were relighted it was found that six men had been seriously wounded. At least four of the men are said to be fatally hurt.

Of the 500,665 live cattle exported from the United States and Canada during 1890, 190,028 went to Liverpool, 137,735 to London, 74,180 to Glasgow, 64,716 to Newcastle, 17,529 to Aberdeen and 17,448 to Hull.

Barren river is so high that the people on the north side are shut out from Bowling Green. The Times says the flood is higher than it has been since 1880, and is doing great damage to the county.

A Leather-Sorting Machine.

Shoe manufacturers are interested in a new instrument, the electric micrometer, which is applied to the sorting of pieces of leather according to their thickness, and distributing them in separate receptacles, its capacity in this line extending to the separation of taps which vary in thickness as little as one-thousandth of an inch, and this at the rate of 5,000 taps an hour. Besides sorting the pieces of leather, the machine automatically records the number placed in each receptacle. When the apparatus is in operation, all that is required of the attendant is to put the taps in a trough-like box. A follower is then adjusted behind the taps, which keeps them in an upright position, and maintains a constant pressure as they are fed from the trough into the abutting fingers, the taps in return being fed from the trough into micrometer fingers, which pass successfully into position. The fingers, which are fed around by a ratchet movement, pause a short time over the receptacle for taps, and when a micrometer finger reaches one of these bins in which the tap which it holds should be dropped, the inner extension of the finger touches an electric contact, and the tap falls from the jaws. The operation of the finger is made to actuate a counter, which indicates the number of taps in every receptacle.—[Boston Transcript.]

Mrs. Amy A. Jackson has written a letter to the management of the World's Fair offering to have an exhibit at the big show of a number of "Old Hickory" relics in her husband's possession. This lady and her husband are the owners of Gen. Jackson's old homestead, the Hermitage, and a large number of Jackson relics, such as Jackson's State coach, his dining table, arm chair, desk and tableware. She is indignant at the State of Tennessee for neglecting to purchase and preserve the Hermitage and its relics, which, she says, visitors declare is more interesting than Mt. Vernon itself. Rather than have these treasures revert to the State, she would make a bonfire of them. She is anxious to have a fac simile of the Hermitage erected on the Exposition grounds, and filled with the relics. The terms on which they offer this exhibit are that they shall be insured against loss; that the transportation shall be paid; that they may be offered for sale during the Exposition; that the owners should be maintained during the time the articles are on exhibition, and that the Jackson exhibit shall be located as far as possible from the Tennessee State exhibit.

APPLYING COMMERCIAL FERTILIZERS.—My plan in the garden, especially with all small crops like lettuce, onions and this class, is to prepare the soil in good till ready for the seed and then scatter the fertilizer broadcast as evenly as possible. Then even the surface with a good steel rake; work the fertilizer well into the soil. With all this class of plants the fertilizer needs to be near the surface in order to benefit them.—With cabbage, tomatoes and all the class of larger vegetable plants make the place for the plants, using a dibble or garden trowel. Put in the fertilizer and stir it in well with the soil and then set in the plants.—With sweet corn, potatoes and this class of plants prepare the soil and mark out the furrows ready for the seed. Drop the fertilizer where the seed is to be planted, stir into the soil, then plant and cover the seed. Generally this will be found better, especially with potatoes, than to wait until the plants come up and then apply commercial fertilizers.—[N. J. Shepherd, Eldon, Mo.]

Appearances Do Not Always Count. Stranger—"Who is that large, fierce-looking man?" "Oh, that is Bagley. He teaches the infant class in the public school."—[Texas Siftings.]

The certain way to judge a man's position in society by his dress is when you see him in the penitentiary garb.—[Texas Siftings.]

It is well to remember that while the only good Indian may be a dead one, he is not necessarily a starved one.—[Life.]
